COMPETITION RULES

CATCH & RELEASE DIVISION

28. Scoring: Billfish Points - Registered anglers will receive 1 point for each eligible billfish released in the tournament. All team and individual prize categories will be awarded based on the individual or team's overall point standings. In the event of a tie, winners will be determined by the team or individual that releases their last fish first.

30. Billfish Release Criteria: All billfish must be properly released in order for the points to be scored to the registered angler and his or her team. The requirements for a release are as follows: (1) The double line and leader must leave the tip of the rod once a strike occurs. (2) At the conclusion of the fight the fish must be brought close enough to the boat for a mate or crewmember to touch the leader, not the double line. (3) In a continuous sequence, video footage must clearly identify the fish as well as the leader touch by a crew member. (4) Evidence on video of the leader being cut at the time of release. (5) The proper color card and confirmation # must be displayed on video by the angler who released the fish to mark the completion of a catch.

31. Video Requirement: Every billfish released in the tournament must be verified by video footage clearly identifying the release. The first video clip to be shot by all teams should be to initialize the video device daily with the time, date and GPS location at the start of fishing. If you fill your first video and need to switch to a 2nd video during fishing, please contact the radio room for a new establishing shot to begin your video.

Each team is responsible for providing their own video device and the appropriate video memory cards to record video footage that documents the releases on their boat. Video media will not be provided to teams by the tournament committee officials. All video must be date and time stamped in order to comply with the tournament rules. Video memory cards are considered the following, but not limited to, SD cards and GoPro memory cards. In the event of a discrepancy or issue, the tournament committee officials reserve the right to request and accept secondary sources of video, to include, but are not limited to, cell phone videos, the actual camera used to shoot video, GoPros, and any other formats the tournament committee deem appropriate as a secondary video format for use as verification for proof of releases for a team. The secondary back up release videos will be used only in the event that there is an issue with the video memory cards appropriately turned in during the times allowed for check-in at the official check-in locations provided and to the designated CatchStat representative at the location selected. In the event of a cell phone, camera, GoPro, or alternative devices being requested by a tournament committee official, the official will call the owner or captain to bring their device to be reviewed at tournament headquarters. The team representative will need to surrender his or her device until the release verification process is complete.

32. Continuous Video Sequence: In reference to release requirements #3 and #4 in Rule 30, the Billfish Release Criteria, to ensure the authenticity of the releases, each team is required to maintain a continuous video sequence from the time video evidence of the fish is established up to the time the leader touch is verified on video. If a break in the footage should occur, the team must reestablish video evidence of the fish again with a continuous video sequence up to the leader touch. In regards to the angler, the angler should remove buffs or face protection, briefly, so the committee can establish the angler's face. It is not necessary to keep the camera rolling after the release while waiting for a confirmation # and color card verification from the tournament committee officials to create the Confirmation Break Image.

33. Confirmation Break Image: In reference to release requirement #5 in Rule 30, the Billfish Release Criteria, once a release has occurred, the captain must contact the radio room for a confirmation # and instructions on which color card to create a video at the end of the release that includes the angler holding the correct color card and stating the confirmation # on video. This video should happen before footage of a subsequent release begins. The angler's face should be visible with the color card in the video.

If a team is hooked up to multiple fish, a crewmember should state that on camera with video evidence to support it. If both fish are brought boat side at the same time, the break image can be made once both fish are properly released and confirmation numbers are received.

34. Release & Catch Verification: All billfish releases must be reported to the tournament officials committee immediately following the release unless circumstances arise of releasing multiple fish at the same time. Individuals calling in a release must include the boat number and angler name in their report. A release will be OFFICIAL once the radio controller responds to the respective angler with a confirmation number. That confirmation number should be recorded on the registered angler's release card with the time of release during the tournament day. Any boat unable to contact the committee, should contact another boat for a relay. Cell phone #s for a number of tournament committee officials will be provided to teams in the boat packet and at the Captain's meeting to be used to call in releases. Boats that intend to fish in areas with poor cell phone coverage are still responsible for maintaining communication with the tournament committee on all releases. Should a boat relay their releases, it is the responsibility of each boat to ensure the tournament officials committee confirm their release and that they receive the correct color card and confirmation #.

35. The Last 15 Minutes: The last 15 minutes of fishing each day, all hook ups must be reported to the tournament officials committee and a confirmation must be received from the tournament officials committee that you are hooked up. If you use another boat to relay, make sure that boat receives confirmation from the tournament officials committee of your hook up and confirms the relay back to your boat. It is advisable to record the name or number of the boat that assisted in the relay for additional assurance. It is each boats responsibility to make sure the tournament committee confirms you are hooked up. Call in your release as soon as possible and ensure your video can clearly show the hook up began prior to lines out. If you lose the fish, notify the tournament officials committee as soon as possible. Fish that are not confirmed by the tournament committee before lines out will be not be counted.
